The Wellington Lab

Dear Genevieve & the Department of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine,

Thank you for supporting the Wellington Lab Friends and Family Open House! Thanks to your contribution, this event was a great success!

This graduate student-led initiative was focused on providing trainees with an opportunity to practice their knowledge dissemination skills to a general audience in a low-stress environment. Everyone from the lab was encouraged to invite their friends and family, with emphasis on bringing in people who do not work directly in science and academia. Our event attracted 68 participants who came eager to learn about our research, which is a real testament to the incredible support network our lab members have.

After a brief introduction by our event chairs and Dr. Cheryl Wellington, participants rotated through 8 stations where trainees gave a brief lay presentation on their projects. Our participants were incredibly engaged, asking questions and getting excited about science. Participants were also encouraged to participate in BINGO, ticking off things they've learned and activities they completed, for a chance to win prizes provided by our sponsors. During our post-event reception, participants shared their eagerness to participate in events like this in the future and how much they enjoyed the experience overall.

Thank you again, we greatly appreciate your support!

Sincerely,

Jennifer Cooper
